With more than 425 building companies actively relying on BuilderMT's solutions, the Company also racked up additional technology awards and introduced new and improved software in multiple categories in 2009.

BuilderMT also won additional technology awards, most recently a Top Product award from Constructech magazine for BuilderMT’s Business Process Management software solution.

“BuilderMT has never been more prepared to meet the challenges of the recovering housing market,” said BuilderMT’s president, Tom Gebes. “For the last 13 years, BuilderMT has offered the industry’s most stable, most innovative software solutions, and we look forward to taking on the next decade with unmatched professionalism, service, innovation, and support.”
