

BuilderMT Initiates Professional Services Outreach to Alert Its User Base to New Features and System Capabilities

BuilderMT's Professional Services Effort Is Needed Because BuilderMT Continues To Rapidly Add So Many New Capabilities

Lakewood, CO — June 27, 2011 — BuilderMT, North America's best-selling construction workflow software solution provider, announced today that its Professional Services team is in the midst of a concerted effort to reach into its user base to alert them to new features and system capabilities of BuilderMT's Workflow Management Suite (WMS).

The Professional Services efforts include presentations and webinars that review the many new features and enhancements to WMS, followed by a no-cost system review by BuilderMT's consultants to analyze the builder's setup and workflow within their estimating, operations, accounting, and product database. Many builders have suffered staff reductions in the downturn, so it's imperative that management teams be aware of WMS' numerous time-saving processes. These now include web-based bidding, a Trade Portal, true Mobile Scheduling, improved payment processing, digital takeoffs within estimating, and stronger integration with Sales Simplicity Software, among many other enhancements.

"BuilderMT has added so many features and enhancements to our WMS that we felt it was necessary to alert users to its award-winning capabilities, in case they haven't had time to monitor each new software release," said Tom Gebes, BuilderMT's president. "Every builder that has taken advantage of this Professional Services offering gives us rave reviews for the range of features and functions that they discover."

The Professional Services outreach comes during a period of remarkable growth for BuilderMT, as it recently announced that it has added 3,000 housing starts across multiple builders in the U.S. and Canada (including a top-five volume builder from Canada), and nearly as many starts in Australia.
